

THE HEALING JOURNEY

by Cindy Miropol

I started writing non-stop, while in ICU regarding what I had learned from my personal '911' health scare/close brush with death.

On May 5th, (my personal day of distress, 'MAY DAY' or 'wake up call'), I had a pulmonary episode that left me without the breath to call '911' for help. This frightening, and life-altering experience has changed my thinking and my life. My pen would not write fast enough and even though most people in ICU just convalesce, I was flooded with ideas. Even while hooked up to heart monitors, IV's, oxygen, and the works, after the first day, I was not tired or scared any longer, but to the contrary, I was 'awakened' and energized. Now, thank G-d, I am writing for the International Women's Magazine, MNow, and I am beyond excited and honored. I love helping others and 'spreading the word' and what better way to disseminate information to others regarding healing.

What I learned through my healing process- I now know how health and healing, needs to come first and foremost, for without our physical, mental and spiritual health everything and everyone else suffers and becomes irrelevant and secondary. I always had put myself and my health last, and I now have no choice if I am to live, and I choose to do so for a very long time. I want to live a healthy, happy and fulfilled life. My life was to become a crusade...and although crusades are never easy, I know that the same power that took control of my heart and my pen that day at the ICU still guides my every move. The vehicles have just shown up one by one. When we have faith, focus on the right things, selflessly give, and are open to receiving, the wheels are set in motion and miracles start to happen.

I learned how important it is to be actively involved in your own health care, and the value of research and self-education. I know there is a lot to do regarding how to facilitate and expedite healing, from having to find items such as a nebulizer- to a home emergency medical alert unit to dispatch emergency medical care, to a portable health record device to give information to caretakers/medical personnel when you are unable to, When the paramedics arrived, I was unable to speak as they were putting a mask on me, and injecting me, etc, and I also did not have the breath to answer where my ID/license and wallet were; who my physician was, the medications I was on, what meds I was allergic to, which ER/hospital to go to, who my emergency contacts were, and other critical information. (Please see below for further information regarding these devices that I now have and recommend others have, BEFORE they need them; before it may be too late as almost occurred in my case), I also researched and found the best and most inexpensive allergy free products for the home, including mattress and pillow encasings, laundry detergent to kill dust mites, and many other items to eliminate things that might trigger a toxic reaction. Only because I inquired after reading a poster on my pulmonary physicians wall what 'IGE levels' were, I was informed 'yours are probably too high'. I asked if there is anything that would lower them, and that simple question led to my now receiving monthly XOLAIR injections that have improved my lung function and health. I also spent hours on the phone to get my insurance to cover the one thousand dollar a month injections. I also learned the importance of monitoring and recording my medications and treatments, and consequently diverted missing a critical respiratory treatment. I wish that I had the knowledge as well as all of the above, especially the items to provide help in emergencies, before instead of after the fact!

Love and Support promotes healing— Nothing meant more to me than the calls, visits, words of support, wisdom, kindness and gifts from family and friends. From friends old to new, who called when they heard I was ill, to people I worked with and acquaintances who expressed caring, concern and kindness, I learned what I always knew, but somehow had forgotten at times, how important it is to have support and to have others there for you, and vice versa-to be there for others to lend a 'helping hand' and 'healing hope'. I also learned to ask for help rather than being who was usually worrying about everyone else and giving help. Every call, e-mail, flower, magazine, CD, DVD, IPOD, and stuffed animal cheered me up and helped reinforce my need and will to heal and get back 'to life'. Re-connecting with loved ones, and surrounding yourself with positive people and positive energy, while eliminating the toxic people and things from your life is another thing that I experienced is of utmost importance.

Thinking and believing in positive thoughts and outcomes is also essential. Your thoughts have a direct impact on your body-health, and I learned first hand how powerful the mind-body connection and 'will to live is' I have many books, tapes, resources now to empower me in thinking positive and it has made a big difference on my spirit and physical well-being.

I learned the importance of listening; being so short of breath I also learned how to choose my words more wisely and was 'forced' to let others do most of speaking.

I learned how to listen in a new, more intent way and learned things that I might have missed otherwise.

There are also additional things I learned out of need, from big to small from information regarding-diet-including healthy diets, healing foods & recipes; exercise-from healing exercises, to tai chi, and reflexology, medical & health care products-i.e. nebulizers/ air purifiers/water filters to natural/homeopathic cures; to breathing exercises & stress/pain management, psychological intervention, and spiritual healing via prayers, to 'the AMEN party/project/ and manual for helping others to heal via prayer and support.

Lastly and most importantly, I learned regarding the power of re-connecting with the soul and the 'power of prayer and divine intervention'. When I was unable to breathe or speak, and went into sinus tachycardia, it was then that I turned and I saw a postcard on the floor in my pile of mail that had a picture of a rabbi and said 'SOUL POWER'. In my moment of thinking my life was coming to an end, divine intervention interceded and I was reminded to pray, I asked G-d to let me live if I was supposed to, and I asked for the breath to be able to call for help, It was at that moment I was able to whisper into the phone and give my address to '911'.

I thank G-d for answering my prayer and keeping me alive until the paramedics arrived, I also am grateful there was someone at the front desk, who found my spare key in the office to let the paramedic into my apartment in a timely manner. Thus everything lined up for me to get emergency help and to the ER in time to get on IV steroids, IV antibiotics, oxygen, all the medicine and pulmonary treatments needed, I was in ICU and had to get pulmonary treatments every 4 hours, and my blood sugar tested every few hours due to the steroids, etc. Through it all, I ended up re-connecting to my spirituality, religion, the power of prayer and the Divine.

Two volunteers visited me from the Miami Jewish Federation and gave me prayers for healing, which served as a great source of solace, and strength till today. I am still wearing my red string that a friend came and tied on my wrist as he said a prayer for healing and protection. I was also just reminded recently by Nili, to read Psalms (Tehillim), daily, which 'is the real treasure that allows for true healing to come down'. I also was informed regarding what other specific prayers to read and add.

THE GOAL

The two lines I wrote after being sent home from the hospital,

"I HAD TO GET SICK, IN ORDER TO GET WELL" and 'I HAD TO ALMOST DIE, IN ORDER TO LEARN HOW TO LIVE', I truly believe I lived & am here for a reason.....and I want to use my networking skills to spread the word, and help to give the gift of life and health to others. My purpose/mission in life has become apparent, and I hope you will assist in spreading the word of healing and health!

I thank those who helped me when I was in need, for being there via your calls, prayers, visits, gifts, support, etc. It made all the difference in the world to me, and I truly wouldn't have made it without it,

NEXT STEPS

A forum and network will be established starting via this magazine, and a healing web-site is being completed to provide direct and easy access to information, community and professional support, and resources for diagnosing/early detection, prevention/remediation, and healing on all levels---mentally, physically and spiritually. There will be direct links to affiliated local, national, world foundations, resources and religious organizations.

There will be a 'messege board' or forum for those who want to place a request for help in healing from anything small to big, including a healing prayer; an AMEN manual or visit i.e. AMEN party to help heal; to a 'healing hug', and 'healing card' -which can be sent on-line, mailed or personally delivered. We will include therapeutic products to facilitate the healing process including increasing independence in self -care, strength, coordination, balance, endurance, as well as information to facilitate diagnosing and healing. Homeopathic products including Chaga, and Bio-relief; to traditional care ( strengthening , range of motion, balance, energy, self-care, pain reduction) to compiling/sending 'healing hospital packages' to 'healing packages for home) to alternative treatments, i.e. acupuncture, Reiki, Feldenkrais, reflexology, biofeedback, energy healing ,kabbalistic healing, and other techniques and products that have proven to be effective, will be presented in addition to conventional treatment and medications.
